Suspect sought in holdup

The Speedway Service Station in Romulus was robbed by a knife-wielding man last Thursday who allegedly told the 22-year-old female employee that "unless you want to die, give me the money from the drawer and safe."

The employee told police that the man, described as a black male, 21, 5 feet, 10 inches tall with a medium build, entered the store section of the gas station and browsed around the candy counter before brandishing a 10-inch kitchen knife.

Escaping with approximately $350, the man allegedly escaped on foot in a northeast direction. Tracking dogs were brought in from Van Buren, but could only detect the scent from the front door to a spot in the northeast corner of the parking lot, where the man is believed to have entered a van.

In other police action, what was reported to have been an armed robbery at Little Caesar's Pizzeria in Romulus on Nov. 18 of last year is now believed to have been an inside job, according to Det. Sgt. David Early of the Romulus Police Department.

On Nov. 18, three employees of the pizzeria — Renee Lureau, 19, manager; John Bennet, 17; and Allen Schultz, 19, reported a robbery of $350.

At the time, Bennet informed police that while he was in the process of making a bank drop at Security Bank, he was accosted in the parking lot by a white male, who proceeded to punch him in the face, throw him against a car, grab the bag of money and run.

According to Early, police had "been hearing a few things here and there on the street that made us believe it was possibly an inside job."

Early and Officer Michael Ondejko followed up anonymous tips, which led to the arrests of the three employees.

Bennet and Schultz allegedly went to the bank site with an empty bag, Schultz hit Bennet in the face and fled with the empty bag.

A preliminary examination has been set for Feb. 1 in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Romulus Treasurer John Lewkowicz has some help around his office these days, following the swearing in of Joseph Hagen as the city's new deputy clerk. Hagen (right) took the oath of office from 34th District Court Judge James B. Stone in a brief ceremony last Monday. On hand for the swearing was Lewkowicz (center), who had nothing but smiles for his new assistant.

Huron seeks legal opinion on sewer contracts

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

Huron Township officials are still walking the proverbial tightrope as far as their involvement in the multi-million dollar "Son of Super-Sewer" project goes.

A mix-up concerning documents sent to the current township administration and those signed by the previous one is being decided upon, and not even two representatives from Wayne County present at Wednesday's meeting to discuss the project were certain of Huron's current status.

Information sent to Township Supervisor Ralph Dugan did not include the Huron name on the cover letter, so it was passed on to another community.

The representatives from the county said the reason for the omission was that they too were uncertain whether or not Huron Township is now legally bound to continue.

"A contract was signed by the old board," said Dugan, "but it was the wrong contract."

Dugan has said that should the plan go through as it now is, Huron residents, who already pay sewer bills of approximately $400 a month ("and that's for small homes," Dugan said), the plan would add an additional $200 per month per household, something he feels residents can ill afford. Dugan defeated the former supervisor on a platform of duced water and sewer rates.

"We're damned if we do and damned if we don't," said Trustee Gary Bates. "We know good and well that if we decide to drop out now, the other communities will have their lawyers down before we can turn around."

While the board was expected to move on the plan Wednesday, they opted instead to have the city attorney review all contracts and documents regarding the sewer project and Huron's involvement in the system and "advise the board if they are still legally bound" to participate.

"We just want to know where we stand," said board member Joe Prater. "That's not asking much."

PCHA board rejects bids to buy group

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Managing Editor

The board of directors of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) has rejected overwhelmingly a proposal to invite purchase bids from private corporations interested in acquiring PCHA facilities.

By a 27-10 margin the board at a special meeting last Thursday night defeated a resolution that would have encouraged organizations to "study and survey the PCHA facilities for the purpose of submitting a proposal . . . for reorganization, including the purchase of PCHA facilities ie. 5 hospitals, central office and all buildings and grounds and equipment owned by PCHA."

Also included in the resolution, offered by Melvindale Mayor Thomas Coogan, was a directive urging full cooperation from all PCHA staff personnel in supplying information to prospective buyers.

Much of the discussion during the two-hour session centered on published reports of an interest in purchasing PCHA holdings by the Nashville-based Hospital Corporation of America (HCA), which owns and operates more than 400 hospitals throughout the world. Approximately 25 city officials recently toured HCA properties in Nashville at the invitation of consultant Ken Gremore, who was ousted as executive director of the PCHA in 1965.

Established in 1945, PCHA has an annual operating budget of some $148 million and owns five hospitals — Annapolis in Wayne, Beyer Memorial in Ypsilanti, Seaway in Trenton, Heritage in Taylor and Outer Drive in Lincoln Park — as well as the PCHA-Oakwood Health Center in Brownstown Township. Twenty-four communities are assessed 2 mill annually and operations are governed by a 47-member board of directors representing each community.

Local representatives of communities served by The Associated Newspapers voted 13-1 against the invitation for bids with Van Buren Trustee Daniel O'Brien casting the lone ballot in favor of the resolution. Opposed were Douglas Cullin of Belleville; Dr. Terrell LeCesne and Hiram McNeeley, Inkster; Noah Bergeron and Donald Morris, Romulus; Milton Mack and Patrick Norton, Wayne; Thomas Artley, James Nelms and Robert Wagner, Westland; James Tillotson, Huron; Karl King, Sumpter, and Edward Dudek of Inkster, a member-at-large.

A majority of the board expressed a concern that Coogan's proposal would send a signal to all health care corporations that PCHA was openly soliciting purchase offers. Many reiterated their support of PCHA and its role in providing local health facilities.

Despite the opposition to a formal invitation for bids, Gremore predicted that a proposal would be submitted by HCA, which owns and manages hospitals with 65,000 beds in 40 states and various countries.

"It would have been nicer with an invite," admitted Gremore, who did not attend the special PCHA session held at administration headquarters in Wayne. "We will continue talking to elected officials because they are responsible to the taxpayers. This (board vote) doesn't change one iota."

Gremore said a proposal to purchase the hospitals would be submitted within 90 days.

According to Robert Hardison, HCA vice-president of development and acquisition, HCA would return all tax assessments paid by the member communities as part of a purchase agreement.

B. Ward Smith, PCHA legal counsel, told the board that "off the cuff, I'd say the board does not have the power to sell . . . without going to the Legislature."

In or out: Attorney rules on council agenda information

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

There's good news for those Romulus residents that frequent city council meetings and are befuddled when references to items not explained on the one-page agenda are tossed around.

In response to a citizen's request, council packets will be available to the general public in the near future.

Questions had arisen as to the legality of citizens obtaining council packets, which at times may contain references to ongoing lawsuits and other potential problems.

The council had requested the city attorney, the firm of Berry, Hopson, Francis, Mack and Seifman, to render a legal opinion on the Freedom of Information Act as it applies to council packets being distributed to the public.

According to the attorneys, the Michigan Freedom of Information Act of 1977 states that "it is the public policy of this state that all persons are entitled to full and complete information regarding the affairs of government and the official acts of those who represent them as public officials and public employees . . ."

Failure to comply with the act, they noted, can, if a court finds that the public body has "arbitrarily and capriciously" violated the act by refusing or delaying to provide the records, result in a $500 fine for punitive damages.

There are, however, many exemptions to the rule, which include interfering with law enforcement proceedings, that could constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal property, disclose the identity of a confidential source and items which could endanger the life or safety of law enforcement officers or their families.

The attorney's office referred to the exemption section of the act as "the most complicated portion."

In a written statement they concluded that "this (the act) seems to indicate that a public body, the city of Romulus here, should simply freely provide all information requested under the act."

"There are several dangers with such an approach, including the complicating of city policy drafting, law enforcement planning and procedures and others."

"Possibly the biggest danger is that there is no civil immunity for materials provided under the act. Thus, if the city does release documents that constitute an unwarranted invasion of privacy, the city may be sued civilly," according to an opinion rendered by the Attorney General in 1975. "This is true even though the city released the documents pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act request."

The final recommendations made by the city attorney to the city administration were: — Council packets should be provided upon request, with certain parts exempted.

A. Where possible invasion of privacy problems might arise, identifiers should be blocked out.

B. Any information regarding on-going litigation should be exempted.

C. All opinions and recommendations of city attorneys should be exempted.

— Generally, if there is a portion of the packet that council members do not want made public, and there is a legiti-mate reason for excluding such information, it may be excluded.

— If the policy of providing the entire packet to the newspaper continues, there are no grounds for exempting any part of the packet from an individual's request.

— Costs.

A. Reasonable costs for copying may be assessed against the person requesting the packet.

B. Given the average size of the packet, there appears to be grounds for establishing a set fee, as long as it is reasonable.

C. A reasonable fee could be set between $5 to $10. Mailing costs would be additional.

D. A person has a right to subscribe to regularly issued public records. The council packet would fall within this rule.

(1) A subscription shall be valid for up to six months.

(2) It may be renewed on subscriber's request.

(3) Such a subscription option is at the request of the person seeking information and need not be provided unless so requested.

Three men charged in rape incident

Three Detroit men have been arraigned in 34th District Court on two counts of criminal sexual conduct in the first degree.

Shenan Lockard, 19, John Gress, 25, and James Armstrong, 17, all of Detroit were charged with allegedly picking up a 26-year-old woman on the pretense they were friends of her brother, offering her a ride home and then driving her to Romulus where she was allegedly repeatedly raped.

According to police, the victim was offered a ride home outside of a coney island restaurant at Vernor and Lawndale in southwest Detroit. She was then reportedly driven to Herman Road west of Ozga in Romulus, a dirt road which dead ends into a heavily wooded area. Homes in the area are set back and well spaced, which would make it hard to hear cries for help.

Acting on tips, Romulus Det.

Sgt. David Early and fellow police officer Michael Ondejko asked around the area, prompting Armstrong and Lockard to turn themselves in.

Police went looking for Gregg after warrants had been filed, and a search of his girlfriend's home found Gregg hiding in a corner of the cellar, wearing only blue jeans, police said.

Lockard and Armstrong are being held on a $25,000, 10 percent bond, while Gregg is being held on a $50,000 cash bond. Their preliminary examinations have been set for Wednesday, Jan. 16, at 34th District Court in Romulus.

"The detectives and police officers involved in this investigation really did an outstanding job," said Romulus Police Chief Flood. "This was an extremely complicated investigation and they pulled it off brilliantly."

Renier to address horsemen's association

Noted horsewoman and teacher Jacquie Renier will speak on communicating with a horse to enhance training at a meeting of the Romulus Horsemen's Association tonight.

Renier operates the family farm, Unicorn's Run, on Bemis Road in Belleville. Established nearly 20 years ago, Unicorn's Run, consists of 45 acres of pastures, barns and indoor arena, as well as the family home.

The farm home and logo are derived from the Renier philosophy that all things must have freedom. Certainly, the scores of the 4-H children and students have felt this freedom to grow into responsible adults under the aegis of Renier's teaching at Unicorn's Run.

"Working with horses and children have been the most important thing, the only thing, that I ever wanted to do," said Renier. This is quite a tribute coming from former successful model Jacquie Spahr Renier, who worked with WXYZ-ABC and the auto shows for many years. The glamour of show biz held no attraction compared to the powerful grace of the horse for her.

"I started riding at age three and have been going at it for about 50 years now. We just put down my first horse, a pinto named Dandy," she said. "I owned him for 30 years."

"We're not afraid of aged horses around here, as my son Andre used a Morgan mare 18 years old for the Michigan Renaissance Festival this year," she added. Her daughter, Ledra, is even older and has gone fourth level in dressage. She is recovering from a bout with founder, but is easing back into training and demonstrates tricks like counting, kneeling, shaking her head yes and no, bowing and laying down.

Once communication has been established with the horse, anything can be accomplished," Renier says.

She credits famed Olympian rider and master trainer Chuck Grant of Brighton with expanding her own beliefs of freedom and positive re-enforcement into a methodical, teachable program. He introduced her to the fine techniques of dressage and for years she trailered her horse 120 miles twice a week to be able to study under Grant.

"Dressage is the most wonderful thing as you can focus on learning. There are 137 different movements in dressage, and the thing to remember is the horse already knows how to do these movements, but it takes us, the intelligent ones, years just to ask for them," she explained. "We have to use the horse's dictionary, basically a silent language... the swishing of the tail, the open mouth, the flat back ears, things like that.

"When a fly lands on a horse, and he twitches it off, we should realize how sensitive to pressure a horse is. When we take that information to train the horse we should remember a slight cue is all the horse needs once it understands the command."

Unicorn's Run students have excelled at all aspects of horsemanship, producing 4-H champions, as well as competitors in state breed shows. The Reinier horses spend as much time on the trails and pleasure riding as they do with ring discipline. Both horses and children seem to respond very favorable to this blend of positive re-enforcement and freedom.

The Romulus Horseman's Association is a non-profit organization that welcomes guests at its 7:30 p.m. meeting at Romulus City Hall, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus. For further information call 729-6543.

Now, 150 years later, a celebration is in order. The Sesquicentennial Committee is hard at work coordinating events for 1985. A Founders Day Dance is to take place in March. assessor's view by matthew raftery

The following is the last in a series of articles on tax assessments, reassessments, Board of Review, Tribunals and other matters related to the levying of taxes within the City of Romulus.

Michigan State Law provides for all owners of real estate the opportunity to appeal the assessment placed on their property by the assessor to the local Board of Review. This board consists of three taxpayer electors of the community who are appointed by City Council.

The Board of Review meets on the Tuesday following the first Monday in March of each year. This first meeting is usually considered to be the organizational meeting of the board. At this meeting the new members take the oath of office, elect officers and then the assessor discusses what has happened in the past year and explains any changes in assessment laws. Also the board tentatively approves the assessment roll at this meeting.

On the second Monday in March the board meets to hear appeals from property owners on their assessments. These meetings may last until April 1 of each year, but usually last no longer than two weeks. Also, in Romulus the board has at least one evening session a week.

The Board of Review may elect to do one of three things to your assessment — raise, lower or leave it the same.

When you appear before the board, bring information that is useful to the board and supports your contention of the value of the property. Do not simply say that the taxes are too high!

The Board of Review is not there to discuss your taxes, garbage collection, street lights, police protection or what your friend in Flat Rock is paying in taxes. The board is there to determine whether the assessor has valued your property correctly and, if not, make the correction. Remember, your assessment is one half of the market value of the property.

When appearing before the Board of Review, information that will be helpful in getting your assessment reduced would be:

1. A recent deed to the property.
2. Recent sale of properties similar in size, style and age.
3. Documents from a certified appraiser stating that a recent appraisal values your property lower than the city appraisal. A letter from a real estate person is just that, his opinion of the value of the property, it is not an appraisal)
4. Items outside of your property that would influence the value (factory, railroad, highway, etc.).
5. Severe physical damage to the property.
6. Most of all, pictures, pictures are worth a thousand words.

Remember, the members of the Board of Review are your neighbors and also pay taxes. They have heard many cases during their meetings and losing your temper or shouting at them does not help your case.

Senior Citizens Homestead Property Tax Credit is set up, depending on your income, so that seniors will only pay 3.5 percent of their property taxes. The remainder of these taxes are refunded to them (up to $1,200). A reduction in their assessment, in most cases, would only mean a reduction in the amount of the refund.

After you have presented your case the board will either make a determination or will notify you within 10 days as to their decision. Any reduction by the board is good for one year only and returns to the original assessment the following year and must be appealed the next year to receive a similar reduction.

If you are not satisfied with the decision of the board you may then appeal their decision to the Michigan Tax Tribunal by June 30 of that year. However, you must first appear before the local Board of Review in March before the Tribunal will hear your case and you must appeal to the Tribunal before June 30 of that year. Those two dates are the most important steps in the appeal process.

An appeal to the Small Claims Division of the Tribunal is free. Instructions on how to appeal to the Tribunal are included with the letter from the Board of Review or may be obtained from the Assessor's Office.

Remember, when appealing your property to the Board of Review or the Michigan Tax Tribunal, prepare your case, the burden of proof is on you. Copies of assessment records are available in the Assessor's Office. If your case has merit or you can point out an error, we are more than happy to make a correction. Our major concern is that everybody is treated fairly and equally, that is why the Board of Review was created.

ature." He was requested to file a written opinion on the issue.

Following are the comments of local representatives expressed during the debate on the resolution:

O'Brien (Van Buren): "We're saying, bring in anyone who wants to bring in a proposal. There has been criticism of central office and with people being laid off at Beyer. Maybe St. Joe's would want to acquire Beyer.

"I resent the fact that the chairman (Donald Pizzimenti) told me that we make our motions in committee before they are brought to the floor. I represent 20,000 people and should be able to make a motion (from the floor)."

Mack (Wayne): "This resolution is putting the cart before the horse. It would signal to the world that the board of directors is putting PCHA up for sale. It would be telling this to our patients, our doctors and our employees without knowing what's down the road."

Bergeron (Romulus): "I'm opposed because of the backward way they (HCA) approached it. They should go directly to the powers that be and get it over with. Let's be a leader rather than a follower in the health care field."

Nelms (Westland): "Judas betrayed Jesus for 30 pieces of silver. Are we going to be another Judas and betray the trust of our communities for good health care for 30 pieces of silver?"

Dudek (at-large): "We shouldn't be thinking of selling it (PCHA), we should be proud of it ... and try to better it."

LeCesne (Inkster): "I have a concern as to why at this time is such a proposal coming forth. What has precipitated this interest? I have been quoted as saying that some members seem to have dollar signs in their eyes."

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

Matt Scully

A junior who has worked hard and put in long hours with the wrestling team. Matt Scully won his first tournament gold medal on Saturday. The 119-pounder also helped the Eagles capture their own invitational tournament. Matt has compiled a 16-9 won-lost record this season and Coach Wayne Schimming says, "that he is one of the most dependable wrestlers I have ever coached. Matt is coming on strong and should qualify for state competition this year."

Avery Jones

Although a first year cager with Al Wilkerson's team, Avery Jones has displayed talent as an aggressive and sharpshooting guard. The 6-1 cager sank 16 points, hauled in eight rebounds and played an excellent floor game that helped provide the Eagles with the winning edge against an always-tough Willow Run team last week. "It was Avery's best game by far," says Coach Wilkerson. "He has contributed tremendously to the success of this team this year."

Your responses to my column are appreciated. Keep in touch with me at 41727 Joy Road, Canton, MI 48187 or (313) 455-8892. Due to space constraints, the original letter to The Letter Writer is always shortened in this column.

REFUND OF RENTAL DEPOSIT REFUSED!

Dear Letter Writer:

I put a deposit on a rental unit in the town where I was going to school. Then everything got messed up and I asked for my deposit back. The landlord refused to refund my money. Please help me get it back.

Sincerley, JD

It is your contention that inasmuch as you held the apartment, which was shown to JD on Oct. 16, 1982, for him and, therefore, were unable to rent the unit, you have suffered financial damages.

If this is the case, why is the apartment presently rented and not available for rental by JD?

Referring to paragraph No. 1 of your Oct. 20, 1982 letter agreement with JD, it states, in part, "... two bedroom apartment ... that was shown to JD on Saturday, Oct. 16, 1982."

In fact, the apartment which was shown as being available for rental to JD, during the week of Dec. 13, 1982, was an entirely different apartment and the "... apartment ... shown to JD ..." is presently rented to other tenants.

I fail to see how you suffered damages by turning down rentals on an apartment that is rented.

With respect to your "letter agreement" of Oct. 16, 1982, please be aware that you "inked" in the language, "... or similar quality of apartment in the vicinity." JD did not acknowledge agreement to this modification, on your part only, of the "letter agreement."

However, if JD had agreed to the above-referend modification, the unit that you showed to him on or about Dec. 13, 1982, is not "... similar quality of apartment." It is, in fact, in a different building, has a different, less desirable layout, is obviously less well-kept, is further from the laundromat and has a shabby, ill-kept kitchen floor.

You made mention, on the telephone, when we spoke, and read language to me over the phone with respect to the conditions of breaking a lease. There is no lease agreement of any kind between you and JD.

Accept this letter as a demand for immediate refund of the $570 consideration accepted by you, in bad faith, from JD.

If we do not receive the refund in the amount of $570 by Dec. 29, 1982, JD shall take further action.

Sincerely, Letter Writer
RESOLUTION: Because of the "young" age of JD, I made a telephone call on his behalf to help clear up this matter. Thus, the letter is written from me and not from JD. At any rate, within four days after receipt of the letter, the landlord refunded the "deposit," and JD was able to use the money to rent another unit.

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

By Dr. Thomas Anderson

BACK ON FIRE?

Your back takes a constant beating! Daily muscular contraction, pounding on your heels as you walk, the forces of gravity compressing your spine, can give rise to heat and muscle spasms. Pain shoots in all directions. Distortion of your spinal column can cause an irritation that results in inflammation. Vertebrae (spinal bones) become flattened and distorted, affording less of a shock-absorbing cushion to protect your spinal nerves.

Chiropractic treats by correcting misalignment of the neuro-muscular-skeletal system with gentle manipulation adjustments. This helps the proper flow of nerve energy relieve your inflamed overheated, irritated joints. Presented as a service to the community by:

Monroe--Ring exchange nuptial vows

Three hundred guests were in attendance at the First Baptist Church of Wayne Nov. 3 for the nuptial of Cylinda D. Monroe of Wayne and Jonathan W. Ring of Conneaut, Ohio.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Monroe of Wayne. The groom is the son of

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Ring

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ring of Conneaut, Ohio.

The altar of the church was decorated with candelabras, accented with ivy, and bouquets of dusty roses, white carnations and baby's breath for the early afternoon ceremony, officiated by the Rev. Jeffrey Bemederfer.

Pianist for the double ring rite was Mrs. Brenda Bemederfer, with organist Mrs. Joyce Preston and soloist Mrs. Dawn Baker.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white matte taffeta gown, with a high illusion neckline, for her wedding. The bodice and skirt were trimmed in alencon lace appliques with seed pearl accents. Long sleeves, that were puffed at the shoulder, complimented the gown, with its attached chapel-length train. Her fingertip veil was also accented with alencon lace and seed pearls.

The bride asked JoAnn Aeschliman of Archbold, Ohio, a college friend of the couple, to serve as her maid of honor. She wore a dusty rose-colored chiffon over taffeta gown with a high illusion neckline and ecru lace standup collar. Her elbow-length sleeves were also trimmed in lace.

The honor attendant wore a halo headpiece of white carnations, pink miniature roses and baby's breath. She carried a lighted candle with a chimney, surrounded with dusty rose-colored carnations, pink miniature roses and baby's breath.

Serving as bridesmaids were Becky Ring of Ohio, sister of the groom, Sherry Monroe of Wayne, sister of the bride, and Karen Peterson of Grand Rapids, a college friend of the couple.

Their gowns and headpieces matched that of the honor attendant.

The groom asked Malcomb Beal of Pennsylvania, a friend, to perform the duties of best man. Serving as groomsmen were David Ring of Ohio, brother of the groom, Scott Monroe of Michigan, brother of the bride, and David Chessman of Indiana, a friend of the groom.

The ushers were Mike Monroe of Texas, brother of the bride, Sam Ring of Ohio, brother of the groom, and Bob Hariman of Indiana, a friend of the groom. Serving as junior host was Philip Ring of Ohio, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Monroe chose a street-length wine matte taffeta dress, with an embroidered shifflery lace top and standup collar, for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Ring wore a street-length candlelight dress with long sleeves and embroidered lace standup collar. The bodice was accented with an embroidered lace inset.

A reception for the newlyweds and their guests was held in the church's Fellowship Hall immediately following the ceremony. Serving as hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Krisk of Wayne. A rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held in the church's social hall with 48 guests in attendance.

Following a two-week honeymoon in Florida, the newlyweds moved to Brainerd, Minnesota.

The new Mrs. Ring is a 1980 graduate of John Glenn High School and a 1984 graduate of Taylor University in Upland, Indiana, where she received her degree in therapeutic recreation.

Her husband is a 1980 graduate of South Ridge Christian Academy in Ohio and a 1984 graduate of Taylor University, where he received degrees in sociology and Christian education.

The couple will be working together with the Youth Investment Foundation.

PCHA--not for sale

The board of directors of the People Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) has emphatically set the record straight with regards to any proposed sale of PCHA facilities. Simply put, these holdings, including Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and Beyer Memorial in Ypsilanti, are not for sale.

An overwhelming number of board members reaffirmed their support of PCHA during a special board meeting last Thursday by defeating a resolution that would have formally invited interested parties to submit purchase bids. Much of the discussion centered around speculation that the Nashville-based Hospital Corporation of America wished to buy the five PCHA hospitals, its central office facility and all the publicly-owned buildings and equipment.

The PCHA board certainly was not in the mood to discuss a proposal they had never seen. In fact, we believe it would take an incredible offer to turn PCHA hospitals into privately-held hospitals administered by a for-profit corporation. Even then there is some question as to the legality of such a sale.

Can a private concern, such as HCA, operate the local hospitals more efficiently than the present public organization? And which will best serve the interests of quality health care, a public or private corporation?

Only through an extensive airing of information on both sides of these and other questions can the public good be served. If HCA or Harper Grace Hospital or any other hospital group feels it can provide better health care at lower costs, they should submit a proposal to the PCHA board of directors and administrators. Without a tangible proposal to discuss, the debate remains one of philosophy and politics.

Any private corporation that intends to submit a firm proposal should be aware of the fact that it will have to convince the public, as well as elected local officials and the PCHA board of directors as to the merits of a sale. That would be a formidable task.

Salute to Jaycees

Community service and the Jaycees seem to go hand in hand. Now a co-ed organization, the Jaycees continue to have a positive impact in our cities and townships.

These young adults, 18 to 35 years in age, unselfishly give of their time and energy to put something back into their communities. Funds raised from such traditional Jaycee ventures as the Haunted House at Halloween and sponsorship of carnivals and raffles are used to assist the less fortunate.

Membership in the Jaycees has fluctuated through the years; recruitment of persons willing to get involved in community service can be a difficult assignment at times. Despite a changing membership, however, the Jaycees have remained a viable, positive force dedicated to their ambitious creed:

"We believe that faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life. That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations. That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise. That government should be of laws rather than of men. That earth's great treasure lies in human personality and that service to humanity is the best work of life."

As the Jaycees mark the observance of Jaycee Week (Jan. 13-19), we salute their commitment to leadership and community service.

Functioning well?

To the Editor:

If the PCHA is functioning well, why then are employees being laid off, being shifted to different floors, different shifts and different departments? Why then is the employee morale so low? The concern is what is going on in the background that the public doesn't know about. Some of us who know what is going on in the background are not afraid to speak up as citizens and taxpayers.

The tax assessments levied on the communities are unfair and unjust. Why should people keep on paying taxes to a Hospital Authority that does not show any concern nor gives any returns on the taxes paid. The taxpayers of these communities have other necessary needs that the money can be used for.

For example: Here in the community of Wayne the tax rebate could be used to erect a "DECENT" court house and/or a new pool. The building now being used as the court facility is a total disgrace to everyone in Wayne and the surrounding communities. No other community has a "DUMP" for their court house. We, as taxpayers, deserve better.

It has been stated, "a proposed rebate of assessment monies to the communities is preposterous." Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary defines preposterous as "contrary to nature, reason, or common sense." I ask everyone, is returning tax monies to the taxpayers really preposterous?

Returning the tax assessments would give certain people less control over the people they are suppose to serve and it would also lessen the "POWER" of some people.

I had the distinct opportunity to be in attendance at the Special Meeting of the PCHA Board on Jan. 10 of this year. I was not at all surprised to witness the functioning of the board. It is controlled by two people. The majority of the other board members are only their "puppets." It has been stated "to alter the PCHA would be a crime and a scandal." Why would it be a crime and a scandal if the PCHA indeed was functioning well? The PCHA needs to be altered and it should be done without reservations.

Just as one person says the PCHA is functioning well so also this person has stated to me, on several previous occasions, that the city of Wayne is functioning well. But are we functioning well?

When one person "controls" everything, even the elections to the city council, in that person's eyes everything would function well. But in all reality, the functioning and the governing of Wayne is a "total disgrace" and or an embarrassment to the citizens of Wayne as well as to the surrounding communities.

The Constitution of these United States guarantees that we shall be a government of, for and by the people. Is our city run in such a fashion, of, for and by the people? As we are all aware of in the City of Wayne, our city and its functions are CONTROLLED by one man.

Many, many people of our community have complained to me of the functions of Wayne but these people are afraid to speak out, as I have spoken out. To many people in the City of Wayne their homes have become their "prisons." People, on many occasions, I have asked you to come out of your prisons and speak out but FEAR keeps you in your prisons.

People of Wayne, it is now time to join together and with the Grace of God we shall overcome our exile, and be the FREE citizens that is guaranteed to us by our Founding Fathers and the Constitution of these United States.

Flooding problems

To the Editor:

I have been a resident of Canton Township for the last six years. Upon the completion of the paving of Haggerty Road, we have had continuous problems with flooding of basements in the Cherry Hill Pines subdivision.

Initially upon reporting of this flooding problem, DPW stated that pumping stations were being added along Haggerty and Cherry Hill Road which would prevent the future occurrence of this problem.

In addition, DPW stated that I would receive a phone call requesting further details and explaining what corrective actions would be taken. I have never received a return call and the subdivision basements continue to flood. The placement of manually actuated pumping stations along Haggerty and Cherry Hill Roads do not prevent basement flooding, if the pumps are not turned on in a timely fashion.

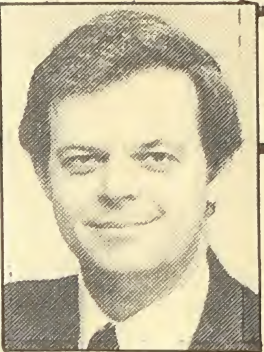

When we awoke on New Year's Day to find a foot of water in the basement, we attempted to call DPW to notify them that basements were flooding and the pumping stations were not on. The DPW, however, was closed for the holidays. We subsequently notified the Canton police and were informed that the pumps would soon be started. Certainly not soon enough in our case when at least 10 homes, that we know of, were flooded.

I propose that Supervisor James Poole add this as an agenda item at the next board meeting so that a permanent solution to this problem is identified and implemented.

"What's the matter with kids....?"

There's a song from the now aging musical "Bye Bye Birdie" that asks, "What's the matter with kids today?" The answer to that dated musical question is, no doubt, the same today as it was then — "Nothing that wasn't wrong with them when you were a kid!"

Some would suggest that kids are today involved in all manner of "sin and vice" which were unheard of in days gone by.

First, let's clarify something. Many think of sin and vice in terms of 1) something only other people do or, 2) their own personal transgressions for such crimes as playing golf too often, not sticking to a diet, over indulging in television viewing or perhaps thinking poorly of someone else.

Kids tend to accuse parents of such cardinal sins as "never having enough time for me," or "they're always on my case." For transgressions such as these, parents are usually tried, convicted and hung "kangaroo court style," in absentia, of course. This is usually done by a group of the victim's peers who hear the damning testimony during mutual complaint therapy sessions.

Parents tend to bemoan the sins of their children and feel that "something must be done." Such capital crimes include, but are certainly not limited to: failure to clean up the kitchen following snack time, not cleaning their room, not feeding the dog, and the all time classic offense — having to be harassed into completing homework.

Now let's face it folks, there are some serious problems in the world, and truly heinous sin and seething vice, but either very rarely touches those of us in "middle America." For most, such horror is only something read about in the newspaper.

My point is that many of us become irrationally and genuinely disturbed by matters of little significance in light of the world condition. Too many of us, young and old, lose our perspective, busy ourselves playing "poor me," and do not seriously consider the real difficulties of our fellow man.

If our young can survive adolescence and teen years with mental and bodily functions intact and become an educated, employed, contributing member of society, we should be most grateful. Millions in this world cannot feed and clothe themselves and their families. Nor can they survive other manner of disaster, tragedy and sadness. War, political conflict in the streets, natural disasters and commodity shortages are routine to many around the globe.

We take for granted the availability of medical care, educational facilities, food, housing and consumer items. For many, these are dreamed-of luxuries. Such conditions affect the young and the old, as do society's ills in this country. Talk to those who work with the victims of the dark side of our society — or those who dwell in it.

Burglary, armed robbery, drug trafficking and prostitution are logical alternatives for the young born into society without benefit of equal access to success. Such sin and vice may seem the only way to survive and prosper for those who enter life in poverty, for those who, by accident of birth find themselves a disadvantaged minority, or for those who grow up in other trouble environments.

Illegal activities may seem to offer a "ticket out" of the life they happened into. Lust for wealth or desperation of family needs are often motivators. The results tend to be jail or prison and a criminal record that follows for the "duration." Other temptations and vices tend to infect the parents of Administering a court... A 'people' business

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

Ask David Wiacek what he does for a living and he will quickly tell you he's "in the people business." But asking him to explain why he considers his work as court administrator a "people business" isn't as easily answered.

Wiacek was appointed to the position in 18th District Court late last year, replacing Les Hall, who left after a six-month leave of absence for employment with a private corporation in the community. He had been serving as acting court administrator in Hall's absence prior to the appointment.

While the judges of the district court are responsible for dispensing justice, it falls on middle class youth and are mimicked by the young. Excesses in activities like gambling, alcohol and drugs often result in devastation. The road back, if there is one, most often is so steep as to be almost insurmountable.

Little wonder today's youth has such difficulty steering through the impressionable "formative years" of adolescence and teens. Life is full of temptations and the opportunity to dabble in areas that should prompt total abstinence are everywhere. "All things in moderation" we are told, but the consequence for moderate drug use is difficult to discern for the young.

Youth tends to blame parents for all manner of personal shortcomings, attributing some failure to a parent "not raising" them properly. Few will appreciate fully, if at all, the measure of their parents' worth or ability as a tutor or role model until much later in life.

Neither will the failures or faults of one's parenting become thoroughly evident until the offspring grows to full stature and maturity. Only then will the knots, bumps and bends or neurosis cultivated by parents subsequently surface.

The teen years are times of great pressure for young people. "What are you going to be?" "Are you going in the service?" "... going to college?" "Plan to get married?" people ask. The young feel the pull society exerts to succeed. Sometimes they think there is a short cut. And some get trapped in the educational system and find themselves, years later, a professional student, learning for the sake of learning — forever procrastinating — choosing a means to utilize their accumulated knowledge.

Perhaps we should count our blessings for our own survival of the teen years, and for our children's passage through this time of crisis. None of us is perfect and we crucified the only man who ever was.

Let's try to keep a perspective about what "sin and vice" really mean and demonstrate tolerance toward our youth in their pursuit of education and the inevitable awakening to world and to life.

See you next week.

budget and complaints about services to name a few of his duties.

"We don't have that many satisfied customers," Wiacek said of work at the court. "Unfortunately, there are rules and regulations we have to follow and we have to make sure the public follows those rules and regulations."

"A lot of the time people don't understand the law. The judge renders a decision based on the law, like the 21-year-old drinking age. You could argue why someone under 21 should be allowed to drink all day, but the law is the law. Sometimes people get frustrated with that."

Wiacek, 30, holds a degree in administration and psychology from Central Michigan University. The former director of the city's Department on Aging, he has found his work at the court much like what he did with senior citizens. The difference, he contends, is that he now deals with all age groups and a variety of problems.

"There's no age limit on who commits a crime," Wiacek said. "We go the whole gambit of age groups just with drunk drivers alone."

Wiacek as the court administrator listens to complaints from persons who visit the court, and in dealing with those complaints tries to explain to residents what the court rules are.

"I can't change the decision; there's nothing I can do but listen to their complaints," Wiacek said. "I don't know if great job," he said, "plus they save taxpayers' money. They also give the probationers the opportunity to speak with someone off the street who may have had the same experience they had. It makes that person feel more comfortable and helps develop a better relationship."

Wiacek is looking forward to give the court continuity and consistency and will put the bad things that unfortunately happened behind us."

He also is looking forward to working with other professionals on implementing rules and regulations as established by the State Supreme Court and on "swapping information" that will make all courts more efficient.

To that end he has become a member of the Michigan Court Administrators Association, of which he serves as editor of its newsletter and corresponding secretary, and the Southeast Michigan Court Administrators Association.

But Wiacek believes his success as a court administrator will be tied directly to his relationship with the judges, the city, the court employees and the public.

"If you have good communication and administration skills you can apply for any administrator's job," he said, "but any administrator or director is only as good as the people under him."

"I have good people under me. They know their jobs, and that makes my job that much easier."

"We don't have that many satisfied customers. Unfortunately, there are rules and regulations we have to follow and we have to make sure the public follows those rules and regulations."

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to offer my support for the selection of Mrs. Sylvia Kozorosky to fill the seat currently vacant on the Wayne-Westland Community School Board.

Ms. Kozorosky has proven herself to be a leader, and true pioneer in the Michigan Aging Network. In her home community of Westland, she has near single handedly set policy and procedure that over the years have been adopted across the state. And, with good reason.

She has not only insight into the aging community, she has multi-generational experience, from preschool to elementary to junior high, to mid-lifers and into the community at-large. She has the compassion necessary to deal with the humanness of the issues, and the passion to make things happen.

To list that which has already been made permanent record is not the intention of this letter. I would write page after page simply reporting her accomplishments, and her awards and honors. But, that you have before you.

What you may not be aware of is the respect she has within the state's aging network. Something may have earned, indeed. But, rendering this lady even more special is the "love" of the senior citizens themselves which has her scoring ahead of the class.

At this time, I would like to

Cares for patients

To the Editor:

I would like to write about a local man, Mr. D. O'Brien PA-C, which means physician's assistant, formerly of Belleville Medical Clinic, also newly elected trustee for Van Buren.

Mr. O'Brien is one of those rare people who puts everything into his profession. He is kind, considerate and really cares for his patients. He is honest with you and doesn't pull any punches. He tells you exactly what is wrong with you and if he feels he can't handle it you are referred to a specialist.

He takes time to know you. I've watched him put my children completely at ease during a visit to the office. If he's been off for a weekend, he sees to it that he knows who came in and why and then follows up with a call to make sure you're okay.

It doesn't matter if you're young, old, mentally or physically handicapped, he's there for you whether it's with a smile and a wave or a visit to the clinic. He's a dedicated man who really cares about the people he treats.

Wayne stretches victory streak to 8 games
Zebras take over Wolverine 'A' driver's seat

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Managing Editor

With a dozen games still left on the regular season schedule, Wayne Memorial cagers seem a good bet to shatter the school record for most victories in a campaign (16).

The Zebras hit the halfway mark last Friday night, destroying Wyandotte, 66-50, to run their record to 8-0 with unbeaten Edsel Ford coming to town Friday for a non-conference battle (jayvees begin play at 6 p.m. with varsity to follow). Despite the impressive start, Coach Chuck Henry isn't pushing for a top 10 state ranking for his squad.

"Inevitably it will happen if we keep on winning," Henry admitted. "But all that does is put pressure on us."

Wayne applied some pressure of its own against Wyandotte, opening the contest with a zone press that caught the home team off guard. The Zeb-ras raced to a quick 8-2 lead midway through the first quarter and were never caught, although Wyandotte kept matters close through the second and third periods.

"We're known as a man-to-man team, so I think the zone surprised them," said Henry, who saw his charges build up a 17-8 advantage after one quarter. "They (Wyandotte) were disorganized until they called a time out. Then we went back to the man-to-man."

Wayne's one-two punch of Pollis Robertson and Howard Flowers again led the way as Robertson poured in 14 points and hauled down nine rebounds while playing with a painful thigh injury and Flowers netted a team high 18 points.

Robertson, headed to the University of Wisconsin, sustained a charley horse in the first period but continued to play. Wyandotte took advantage of the situation to post a 34-27 advantage on the boards, marking the first time Wayne has been outrebounded this season. The 6-6 senior center practiced over the weekend and is expected to be back at full strength this week.

The Zebras had an off night from the floor as well, hitting on only 26 of 68 shots (38 percent) compared to 18 of 47 for Wyandotte.

"We've been having problems shooting in opposing gyms," Henry admitted. "We're in a stretch of seven of eight games at home and I think we're more accustomed to shooting at our place. At home we're shooting around 50 percent. They (Wyandotte) did an excellent job of boxing out too."

Earlier in the week the Zebras throttled Trenton, 76-58, in a battle that pitted Henry against his brother, Dan, who coaches the Trenton cagers and teaches in the Wayne-Westland school system.

Robertson fired in 20 points and 5-9 junior point guard Spence Williams added 19 ("I wouldn't trade him for anyone," Henry declared). Flowers chipped in with 12 markers.

"Their captain, Don Kolcheff, was playing at less than full strength and it made a difference," Henry explained.

Wayne stands alone atop the Wolverine A Conference standings with a 4-0 record followed by Fordson (4-1) and Wyandotte (3-2).

Belleville brings back
3 gold medals from AA

After disposing of Wayne Memorial 56-14 in a dual Wolverine "A" Conference wrestling meet, Belleville grapplers headed for Ann Arbor on Saturday in quest of invitational gold.

And Coach Ron Malacek's grapplers came up with three sterling performances in Mike Beckley (126), Darrell Elder (155) and Doug Chapman (198).

Beckley won the invitational championship by defeating Dexter's Jim Feldkamp on a 5-1 decision, while Elder came off the mats with a 6-1 victory over Pincney's Paul Taylor and Chapman took 1:14 to pin Chelsea's Dave Shoemaker.

Belleville also received three second place performances as 98-pounder James Bishar lost the gold to Dexter's Bruce Schlaff, 15-2. The Tigers also were runner-up at 105 where Bruce Nigg was turned back by Saline's Rubin Castro, 8-4. Bob Tansey finished second to Brighton's Mike Baker. Baker pinned the Belleville grappler in 1:21 for the 167-pound crown.

Heavyweight John Tompkinson also was runner-up as he lost a close 2-0 decision to Milan's Chris Branchneau.

Belleville also had a third place medal from 185-pounder Herb Hoerig who pinned Gabriel Richard's Pat Griffin in 37 seconds. The Tigers were fourth with Stacy Washington (138): fifth with Paul Good (112) and John Ritchey (119) and sixth with Brett Olds (132).

Inkster cagers received little opposition last Tuesday from Ypsilanti Lincoln (above) as they overpowered their non-league rivals. It was a good tuneup for Highland Park, a team that also succumbed to Coach George Thompson's Vikings.

Mills gets 43 points as Romulus
buries TC

Romulus' Terry Mills put on a show Friday night in the Pontiac Silverdome in leading the Eagles to an easy 101-67 rout of Taylor Center.

The show, however, was intended to impress one spectator in particular former Romulus great and current Detroit Piston John Long, who just happened to be Mills' uncle.

Mills, the Eagles' 6-10 one-man wrecking crew, inflicted heavy damage on the Rams in the Metro West League opener for both sides. The junior center poured in a season-high 43 points, blocked 10 shots and hauled down 15 rebounds.

The evening wasn't completely satisfying to Mills, though, because he wanted to break his uncle's school record of 46 points.

Claiming five out-of-a-possible 13 gold medals, Romulus wrestled its way to its own invitational wrestling championship over the weekend.

Mills' 43 is shy 4 points of uncle's (Long) scoring record but 43 and a victory will do nicely, thank you.

"TC is not a bad ballclub at all," Romulus Coach Al Wilkerson said afterwards as a group of reporters clustered around him. "We just really went after them, but we've got to keep working and improving."

"They've lost a lot of people to graduation, but you know Oak Park is always going to be decent," Wilkerson noted.

Decent isn't quite the word Wilkerson used to describe his team's performance against Taylor Center (4-3), although he couldn't fault his club's effort.

"We were good in spots and bad in spots," he said. "We had a 10-day layoff since our last game and it hurt us a little because we're so young."

Romulus started a lineup made up of three juniors and two sophomores, but they must have looked like seasoned veterans to the outmanned TC club. The Eagles jumped out into a 24-12 lead at the end of the first quarter and never looked back.

The lopsided lead throughout the game did make it difficult for Wilkerson to keep his team's intensity up all the way, but when it became apparent late in the game the Eagles might have a host at cracking the century mark, Wilkerson didn't have to worry about lighting a fire under his squad.

And it seemed fitting that Mills should be the one to push his team's score into the tripple-digit range. He converted both ends of a one-and-one with eight seconds left to give Romulus its final margin of victory.

Mills wasn't the only Eagle to score in double figures. Stevie Glenn tossed in 19 points, while Juan Street chipped in with 15. Dave Lancial led the losers with 19 points.

Earlier in the week Romulus continued its domination over Willow Run as Mills fired in 31 points to lead Wilkerson's Eagles to a come-from-behind 74-65 victory over the Flyers.

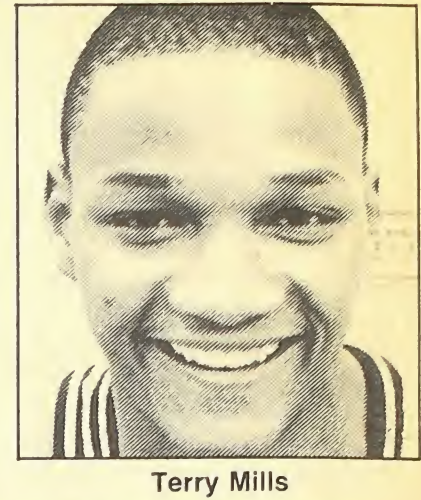

Plagued by a sluggish first half, Romulus was mired in turnovers and errors until Mills ignited the Eagles with 12 points in the third period and 13 in the final frame. The Flyers held the upper hand after the first eight minutes (17-13) and continued the reign 34-28 at the halfway mark.

"We have been having a problem in the first half," Wilkerson noted. "I don't know what it is. We began to concentrate and do the things we do best in the second half and the results showed up on the scoreboard."

Defense lifts Belleville past LP, and to 1st win

Belleville turned in its best defensive performance of the 1984-85 campaign and shut out Lincoln Park the first period en route to a 49-21 victory over its Wolverine "A" Conference basketball rivals Friday night.

The victory also snapped a Belleville five-game losing streak.

"We've been playing well on defense," said second year coach Leon Birdyshaw, "but we haven't been rewarded. This is the first game this season where we managed to also put the points on the board to win."

Belleville, getting an outstanding floor game from sophomore guard Chris Grantham and Dennis Montie, leaped to 13-0 lead over the Parkers who trailed through the entire game. Grantham, who scored most of his 16 points off of "steals", paced the Tiger attack. Lewis Willis also scored in double figures for the winners. He had 14.

Junior center Michael Hardy came off the bench and contributed a game-high 11 rebounds.

Lincoln Park managed to cut into Belleville's 16 point lead by scoring the first two baskets of the third period, but the Tigers, who enjoyed a 26-10 margin at halftime, were out in front 36-14 at the three-quarters mark. They then outscored their rivals 15-7 in the last period.

Earlier in the week Belleville dropped a 55-41 decision to league adversary, Wyandotte, despite the efforts of Wesley Currie, Willis and Grantham who all chipped in with double figures. Currie and Willis split 28 points while Grantham counted 10.

The Tigers couldn't stop Wyandotte's versatile Chuck Kowalski who scored 22 of his team's points and had a pocket-full of assists.

Belleville faces a tough schedule the next two weeks: they travelled to Dearborn Fordson last night, are on the road again Friday at Trenton before taking on Monroe (Jan. 22) and Romulus (Jan. 26).

"Our kids are beginning to show the intensity on offense — they have always displayed it on defense — to win," Birdyshaw commented. "We are going to have to continue to improve to win."

Businessman by day...Elvis by night

By JIM SELLECK
Special to ANP

The music begins, its intensity rising steadily. A tall man strides onstage, his familiar jumpsuit glittering. A hush falls over the audience. They watch expectantly. The King is dead, but the crowd welcomes an illusion. Every eye shines with hope that with this man's help, just for a few minutes, the legend will live again.

The man, an Elvis Presley impersonator, calls himself "Alvis." (A combination of Elvis and Alan, his real name.) A 1966 graduate of Plymouth High School, Alvis Alan now works as a self-employed automotive design engineer.

His part-time identity, Alvis, was born five years ago almost by accident. A magician friend needed an impressive character to be produced with a puff of smoke from an "empty" cabinet. They decided on an Elvis-like image. The illusion was well received, and the character gradually grew into a separate act.

To some, the idea of coming home from a regular job, then donning wild sequined suits and gyrating like Elvis, might seem silly. But Alvis takes his work as an entertainer seriously.

"I consider doing this an honor and a tremendous responsibility," Alvis explains. "Doing a good job as an Elvis entertainer is not easy. Anyone who doubts that is welcome to grow their hair long, have a jumpsuit made, learn a few songs, and stand up in front of a group of live Elvis Presley fans and try to remind them in any way of the King of Rock and Roll. If they can do that, they've got something special going."

Alvis, a resident of Canton Township, has little trouble keeping his business and stage personalities separate. At the end of a performance he finds he is able to "zip the Elvis character into the garment bag" along with the jumpsuit.

He does keep his hair in an Elvis type style, however, and sometimes attracts attention in public. Someone once approached him while he was having lunch with a business client to ask if he was an Elvis impersonator. On that occasion, he admitted it. Generally, his business acquaintances never know about his career as an entertainer.

Many have tried to explain the mysterious appeal that keeps Elvis' popularity alive. Alvis believes that many people who grew up in the 1950s and '60s associate Elvis' music with the memory of those "good old days." When Alvis shares "memories of the King" with an audience, he feels that they forget for a time their present troubles and try to recapture some of those old feelings.

Alvis performs often for area service organizations and in lounges. He enjoys doing benefits for worthy causes. For those who wish to catch his act, he recommends listening to the local "oldies" radio stations for information on upcoming appearances.

In this, the month of what would have been his 50th birthday, Alvis' legend continues. The king is dead, long live the King.
